Saltans Club Gives Splendid Dance

The Saltans Club, composed of the younger dancing set, opened the season of summer gayeties last night, when they gave their annual June ball in the Trimble building. Smith's Orchestra, of Lexington, furnished the best of music for the occasion, and dancing continued until the "wee sma' hours." The ball-room was beautifully decorated with potted plants and greenery and the lights were shaded in blue and pink, which cast a soft glow over the dancers. The lovely costumes worn by the girls present added much to the beauty of the scene. At midnight supper was served at the Delicious Cafe, and a number of private supper parties were given.

"GILLETISM" IN THE HOUSE

"Gillettism" is the Republican dynasty's newest fad. It is more up to date than "Cannonism," and goes farther. It is not dissimilar to "Czarism" in the old Russia, or Bismarck's "blood and iron" policy. As applied by the Republican speaker, from whom it takes its name, at the direction of the Republican "millionaire steering committee," it is most effectively used in the House of Representatives to silence those who would say such things as Speaker Gillett and the "steering committee" do not wish to have said. By the application of "Gillettism," the speaker, who, though he is but one of the 435 members of the House, may refuse to recognize a gentleman on the floor, regardless of whether it is the will of the other 434 members that the gentleman be heard.

"Cannonism," "Czarism" and "blood and iron" have all run their evil course and are no more, which ought to be a lesson to the speaker and the "steering committee," although, as former Speaker Champ Clark says, a Bourbon forgets nothing—and learns nothing.
